It clearly takes a village to write the book Real-Time Rendering.Ola Olsson pointed out this entertaining bit on Google Scholar:. The fourth edition appears to be Volume 19 Issue 2. The article mentioned does exist, but is the very last reference in the book (#1978). The number of authors on the paper is impressive, quite an increase from the original three for this article.

Rendering or image synthesis is the automatic process of generating a photorealistic or non-photorealistic image from a 2D or 3D model (or models in what collectively could be called a scene file) by means of computer programs.Also, the results of displaying such a model can be called a render.A scene file contains objects in a strictly defined language or data structure; it would contain ...

While I have not done research in this area myself, I am fascinated by the computer graphic technique known as non-photorealistic rendering. (Admittedly it is a little odd to name a field of study by what it is not.

Nella computer grafica, il rendering ('restituzione grafica') identifica il processo di 'resa', ovvero di generazione di un'immagine a partire da una descrizione matematica di una scena tridimensionale, interpretata da algoritmi che definiscono il colore di ogni punto dell'immagine digitale.. In senso esteso (nel disegno), indica un'operazione atta a produrre una rappresentazione di qualità ...
