Explicit memory (or declarative memory) is one of the two main types of long-term human memory. It is the conscious, intentional recollection of factual information, previous experiences and concepts. Explicit memory can be divided into two categories: episodic memory, which stores specific personal experiences, and semantic memory, which stores factual information.

Altruism is the principle and moral practice of concern for happiness of other human beings and/or animals, resulting in a quality of life both material and spiritual. It is a traditional virtue in many cultures and a core aspect of various religious traditions and secular worldviews, though the concept of "others" toward whom concern should be directed can vary among cultures and religions.

Memphis. May 29, 1997, 8:30 p.m. Jeff Buckley and Keith Fotti were lost. The two friends had set out in a van for a rehearsal space that Buckley's band was renting. They were on the eve of recording material for the singer's follow-up to his highly acclaimed debut Grace. For the past two months, Buckley, 30, had been living in Memphis.
